would be good enough to gare such instructions; as you think proper to the new Registerr, Mr. Jolonial Secretary.

Here follows some comes abudence concerning be appointment of Mr. Cithons as Registrar o A Registrar is wented for the Supreme Court Hongkong, which possessos two judges, and exercises (practically) all the jurisdictions which in England are discharged by the several divisions of the Sapreme Court of Indicature, except the Admiralty Division. Admiralty matters are dealt with by the Judges of the Supreme Court in the Vice. Admiralty Court, which is an Imperial not Colonial Tribunal, regulated by Imperial Statutes. The Registrar, with his subordinates, discharges similar duties to those of the Registrars, Musters, including the Master of the Crown Office (Ordinance 2 of 1369), and chief clerks and other officials who form the staff of the English Courts, under the provisions of local Ordinances. of which the principal is a Code of Civil Procedure. He is also Registrar of Companies ander the Joint Stock Companies Acts, which have. been adopted in the Clony, but the labour is small. The Registrar is also Official Assignee 1864) adopting the principle of the English Act of 1861 (but without having a Registrar in Bank-ruptoy as under that Act) : part of his duty is to conduct the examinations in Bankruptev. The Registrar is also Official Administrator of Intestate Estate (by Ordinance 9 of 1870), collecting and distributing the property in cases, where administration is not taken out by any relative or oreditor (Ordinance 8 of 1860). Criminal cases (Ordinauce 3 of 1865) are tried upon informations found by the Attorney-General and filed in the Office of the Registrar, who issues copies for service on the criminals with notice of trial, and who, by himself or his deputy, attends the monthly sittings, swearing the Juries and witnesses and recording the judgments. The duties are multifacious, but the number of cases in each branch are limited; it will be seen, however, that the Registrar requires to possess a general knowledge of the practice of Courts, and of mercantile and commercial basiness, with a sufficient acquaintance with accounts vise the subordinates, as well as taking a share He is primarily the officer to attend all the sit-

LARCENT FROM THE PERSON. Young Ai was charged with stealing, with violence, from the person of one Fung Afat, a silver match and chain, value about $20. The complaiment, an accountant, recently arrived from Singapore, said that on Saturday afternoon he met a friend of his in Third-street who asked him to lend him some money, which was refused. He then abased witness and struck him and then called for some others, and about ten men came and beat witness. During the souffie he lost his watch and chain, which were afterwards returned to him by another friend, whos aid he had picked them up as they dropped out of his pocket during the souffle. Witness was wounded on the head. The prisoner was one of those who had benten him.

P.C. 531 proved seeing some half dozen people beating the complement, who was on the ground, and identified the prisoner as one of them. The prisoner said he was arrested by mistake as he was trying to separate the men. Fined 310, in default three weeks' imprisonment with hard labour for the assault STEALING SALT PISH. Lenng Asing, a hawker, was fined $10, in default three months' imprisonment with hard labour, for stealing a salt fish, value twolve cents, from a tailor residing in the Queen's road East.

LARCENT BROM THE DOCKS, Cheung Lam Isai, a carpenter, with seven previous convictions against him since 1874, pleaded guilty to stealing six iron bolts from the Aberdean Dook, also to the previous convictions .-Sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour.

ATTEMPTING TO COMMIT SUICIDE. Choung Tai Hi, an smah in the employment of European lady, was brought up, charged with attempting to commit suicide by taking opium. The amah had been in her employment alittle over two years. On the 21st instant she took an overdose of opium, as, she said, she was in gree grief, her brother baving stolen a bangle from a woman. She now expressed her repret for what she had done, and promised to behave properly for the future.

Ordered to find security in $200 to be of good behaviour for the next six months.

PEKING.

16th August. Our sinclogues here admire the promptitude with which the Shen-pao publishes Peking Guzeties ; and so I don't need to give you a trans. lation of the Decree by which Ch'nng How is now fully pardoned. Here, we have another farce of Chineso politics. When Ch'nng How's capital panishment was temporarily redeemed, the Tsungli Yamen spoke in its introductory dispatch referring to it, of its being a permanent reprieve. and that Decree, of which you gave a corre t verbal translation speaks in the most friendly. nay humilisting, terms of Russia, such as Turkey would now hesitate to apply to Russia; but just for that resconthis Imperial Decreansverappeared in the Peking Gasette, whilst the present one did appear. After exchanges of telegraphic dispatches and various processinations, Marquis Tsing is obliged by repeated argent demands to proceed to St. Petersburg, as I said before the prudent Marquis did not succeed in getting his predeces-Bor as colleague, viz :- a second Chinese nago. tistor, but Russia's firm attitude, not to listen to by trees proposals from Chins, and Marquis Tseng's pronounced reluctance to assume the great resposibility, led to the issue of the last Imperial Decree. Unless China should first have declared war upon Russia, this Decree was an indispensable consequence of the above. Therefore it was not in deference to the wishes of Foreign Ministers that Ch'ung How was released, but owing to Marquis Tseng's reluctance, and Russia's refusal, to treat until he was pardoned. I repeat my former assertion that the Emperor. signed the Treaty himself, because he was dealing with an ambassador, who (se it is now proved) got the telegraphic consent of his govern. ment to his stipulations of the treaty of Kuldja whilst he was still in St. Petersburg, und it was China who urged that the treaty should be signed by the Emperor of Russia, for fear of Russia going bank on the stipulations, and this treaty is called the Livadia Treaty because although negotlated in St. Petersburg, it was ratifled by the Caar at Livadia, where Ch'nng How was not received as an Envoy, but as an Ambassador, ad hoo, of China. This telegraphic consent to Ch'nng How's stipulations is a fact. You will now fully understand the policy of the peace party who could not extricate themselves in their negotiations with the Russian representative here; but nevertheless China revoked the Livadia Treaty, and Russia, astounded by this act. found it necessary to gain time; in that she scompletely succeeded. Five months have elapsed. since Ch'ang How was sentenced by the Grand Council, and during that time Russia has congentrated all her disposable men-of-war, with the exception of the unfortunate Kremin, on the Pacific station. Now the Chinese Government gradually consented to the demands of Marquis Tseng, and whilst he is perhaps just beginning to negotiate at St. Petersburgh, at Peking arrangements have been made for the execution of the sixth article of the Livadia Treaty, viz: "for the the retrocession of Ili. China agrees to pay to Russia the sum of five million groubles," to which, as you have recorded, I made the remark, of this five million roubles, three and a half millions fall for indemnity to Russian merchants for losses, which they sustained by the revolt and the exactions of the Chinese officials." - Those 81 million roubles or 2,060,000 Haiquan Tiels, China has to, and will, pay immediately, and with it Peking transfers the spene of negotiations to St. Petersburg, where they will be prolonged till next spring, when General Scoboloff II, will have his army completed, and the Russian Admiral commandboats, 4 transports, and fi ornisers of the vasion through the Terek Dawan (much to the disgust of Prince Ch'un's party, who already rejoiced at those fictitions victories, promises peace in these regions till next spring; nevertheless, some of our Ministers consider the actual situation more menacing than ever, and a gathering of the fleets of several Powers is to take place at Chefoo; what is the menacing attitude of China I am unable to penetrate.

I conclude my letter with a discovery I made the other day. I find that Chang Chih-tung was in the first ball of the year '76 Hsiolitai of Szechwan; in this capacity the indefatigable Chang issued a memorial calling on the people to defend themselves against the intrusive Christian religion, speaking in the most abusive terms of foreigners, the same foreigners of whom Chang in his last memorial about the Livadia Treaty says that Chius in a forthcoming struggle with this work contains more than five times as When first Marquis Tacing asked for Chung How's assistance, the Chinese Ministers called the Marquis a maniae; however, they have now arrived at pardoning Chung How.

NIGHT IN THE HERZEGOVINA. A wilderness of stone! The deep ravines Lie stern and naked 'neath the moon's pale light And mighty bartiors, gigantic acreens, Frown on the wanderer from every height. No blade of grass nor any groon is here, Enve on a crag one starving olive tree. The terrents into caverns disappear, ... Or haston, meaning, downward to the sea. The shephord homoward to the fold his flock Leads to the erooning of his rustic reed : The goats bound airily from rock to rock, And gambol where our human feet would bleed.
